Wax-dyed elegance

Miao batik, a distinctive traditional dyeing technique of Chinese folk art, embodies the thousand-year history and cultural legacy of the Miao ethnic group. Revered as a treasure of ethnic artistry, it uses cloth as paper, wax as ink, and indigo as pigment. Through the flow of time, it continues to shine with charm, conveying the Miao people's deep love for life and unwavering cultural devotion.

Inspired by this heritage, our design series incorporates batik motifs into fabric art. The patterns include auspicious animal symbols such as phoenixes, fish, and butterflies, as well as floral elements and auspicious cloud motifs—each expressing wishes for a better life. Dominated by shades of blue to capture the authentic texture of batik, the palette is accented with red, yellow, and brown to enhance visual richness and prevent monotony.

This batik pattern series aims to showcase the profound cultural essence and artistic charm of the Miao people through a unique visual language.

Ethereal Blossom Bird

The design inspiration for this meticulous flower-and-bird pattern originates from Chinese traditional meticulous flower-and-bird painting art, integrating the rigorous delicacy of Song Dynasty academic paintings with the nimble charm of freehand flower-and-bird paintings from the Ming and Qing Dynasties. It takes common flowers and birds in nature as creative subjects. Elegant traditional colors are selected: red is used to depict the petals of peonies and herbaceous peonies, showcasing the delicate and dripping beauty of the flowers; varying shades of green are mixed from gamboge and cyanine to express the vitality and texture of the leaves; burnt sienna is used to outline the veins and branches, giving the painting a primitive and profound feel.

The meticulous flower-and-bird pattern design contains rich cultural meanings and beautiful blessings. Peonies symbolize wealth and auspiciousness, implying prosperity and prosperity; lotus represents purity and elegance, signifying noble virtues; plum blossoms embody perseverance and fearlessness of harsh cold; magpies imply the arrival of happy events, while birds such as thrushes and kingfishers symbolize the agility and vitality of life.

Flying Apsaras

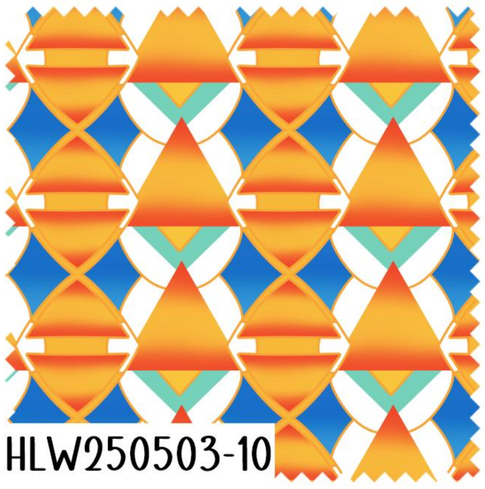

As a millennium-old artistic treasure, the Dunhuang murals carry the cultural integration and artistic inheritance of the ancient Silk Road. Among them, the image of "Flying Apsaras" is a classic symbol of Eastern aesthetics. This work draws inspiration from the classic main colors of Dunhuang murals, including terracotta red, malachite green, and azurite blue, and integrates the unique linear rhythm, color aesthetics, and mythical artistic conception of Dunhuang murals to find a balance between tradition and modernity. It not only preserves the classical charm of the Flying Apsaras but also incorporates innovative elements, endowing the work with both a sense of historical profundity and a modern atmosphere, and interpreting the rebirth of Dunhuang culture in the context of contemporary art.

Purple Lotus Butterfly Rhyme

This home textile design is based on the purple rhyme lotus pond, depicting the quiet poetry of butterflies lingering around the lotus. Cascading blooming lotus flowers stretch the silky texture, and the shades of crimson purple are as faint as gauze, and the transition from ash purple to twilight crimson lays a mysterious and romantic background. The butterfly shadow lightly touches the stamen, and the wings outline a smart arc, injecting a sense of breathing into the picture.

The design combines oriental freehand brushwork with modern aesthetics: lotus symbolizes elegance, crimson conveys nobility, and butterfly dance hides vitali-ty. The composition is dense and dense, and the hazy gradient is deduced on the soft fabric, which condenses the Zen living atmosphere beyond the season forv the bedroom space.

CupcakeParade

The design inspiration for this pattern comes from the agility and cuteness of animals and the sweet healing power of desserts, integrating the image of charmingly naive little animals with the delicate elements of desserts. Taking common pets in life and using desserts such as cakes, biscuits, and candies as prototypes, the pattern is endowed with unique fun and a dreamy feeling. Soft and bright macaron colors and cream colors are adopted, with a small amount of high-saturation bright colors such as orange-red, bright yellow, and sky blue. Through the cute images and sweet combinations, this animal and dessert pattern design conveys beautiful meanings of warmth, happiness, and joy. Animals symbolize companionship and innocence, while desserts represent sweetness and satisfaction. The combination of the two implies that life is full of warm and beautiful moments, as well as the yearning for carefree, sweet, and happy life.

Awakening Spring

Awakening Spring takes inspiration from the revival of spring, artfully blending flowers, fruits, vegetables, and small animals from nature to create a vibrant visual feast. The design infuses traditional spring motifs with a modern freshness, capturing the joy of nature's awakening while conveying the warm, poetic charm of pastoral life.

The color palette revolves around soft pink, yellow, purple, and green, accented with gentle white and light wood tones to add depth. Delicate pink and tender green intertwine to evoke the vitality of early spring, while pastel yellow and lavender introduce a dreamy touch. The low-saturation harmony ensures the composition remains light and dynamic, yet refined and serene.

Key elements include blooming daisies and cherry blossoms, plump cherries and green pears, playful bunnies and fledgling birds, and fresh tomatoes and radishes. Through thoughtful composition and color coordination, the design embodies the unique gentleness and vitality of spring—like a breeze sweeping across a meadow, scattering soft yet vibrant life and hope.

Secret pastoral paradise

This series draws inspiration from nature, using plants like vines and tulips as prototypes. Rejecting ornate embellishments and exaggerated deformations, the designs adopt a realistic and refined style to portray the natural forms and rhythms of plant life—reflecting a deep appreciation for nature and a yearning for beauty.

The color scheme embraces soft, natural tones: green conveys vitality and depth; pink lends a romantic, delicate feel to the blossoms; while apricot and yellow introduce layers and intricacy. The overall palette is calm yet dynamic, blending a vintage feel with a refreshing aesthetic to create a warm and elegant visual experience.

The floral motifs are designed to interweave vines and blooms, forming continuous, looping patterns that exude liveliness and energy.

HALLOWEEN SCREAM NIGHT

It's that spine-chilling time of year again—Halloween is here! Originating from the ancient Celtic New Year celebration, Halloween has evolved into a festival full of fantasy and fun. This design collection focuses on iconic Halloween elements such as pumpkins, bats, witch hats, spider webs, and skulls. Using exaggerated forms and creative combinations, we break away from traditional imagery to infuse the patterns with unique charm and visual impact. This brings new life to classic motifs, celebrating the mystery and joy that define Halloween.

Orange dominates the color palette—symbolizing the glowing pumpkin lanterns and infusing the design with energy and warmth. Accents of purple add a touch of enchantment and spookiness to the scene.

THE SNOW KEPT FALLING

This winter-themed design series captures the joy and serenity of the season by blending whimsical animal imagery with classic winter elements. Through a cartoon-like style, we create visual stories that are both heartwarming and playful, evoking the wonder of winter.

Set in a landscape of snow and frost, the designs feature characters like penguins, brown bears, rabbits, and foxes. With exaggerated features, expressive faces, and delightful interactions, these animals are given human-like personalities that convey warmth and happiness, sparking fond memories and admiration for wintertime.

The color palette centers around shades of blue, complemented by white and purple. White evokes snowy landscapes and drifting flakes; blue depicts the icy skies and frozen lakes; while purple adds a dreamy and cozy undertone to the entire collection.
