Autumn field song

The design of this series is like a thick, substantial tapestry of the autumn earth. Plump orange-yellow pumpkins, as if kissed by the autumn sun, exude a warm and unpretentious aura. Golden sunflowers spread their petals wide, as if singing merrily. Autumn leaves, tiny acorns, and colorful little flowers dot the pattern, condensing the abundance and enthusiasm of autumn into this single design. Every detail seems to play the grand anthem of autumn, making one feel as if they are in an autumn wilderness.

Autumn banquet floral charm

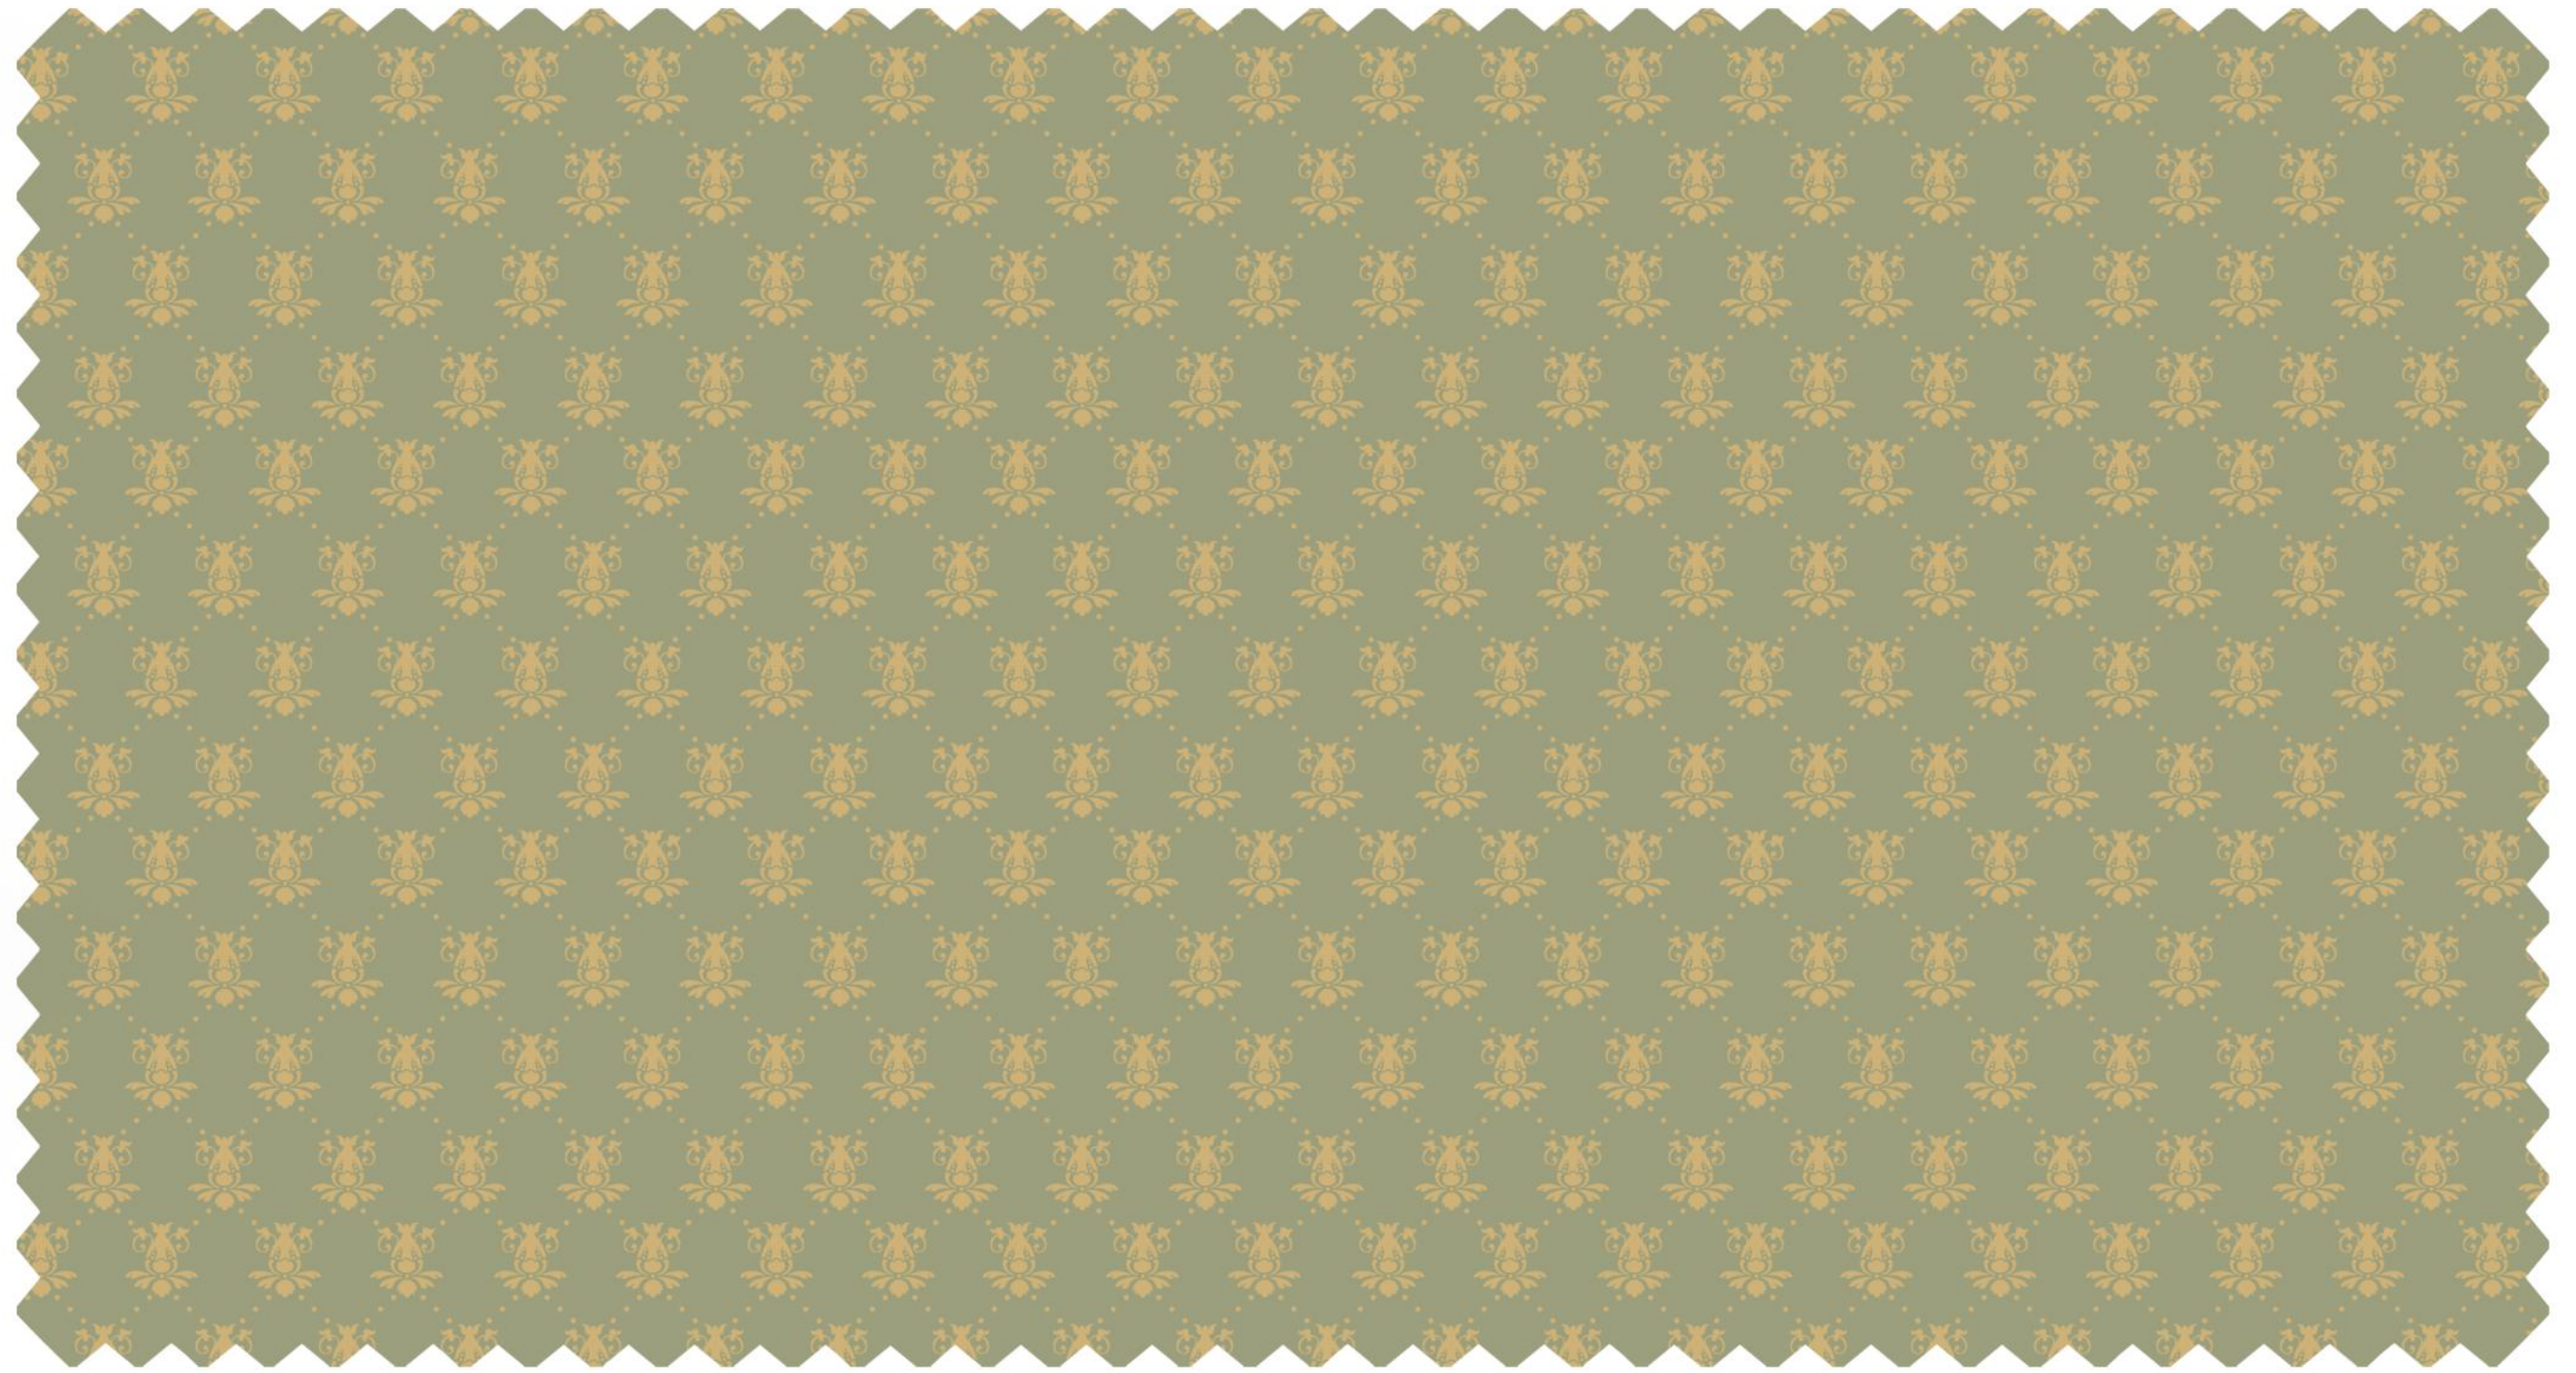

The blue is deep and profound, like the descending curtain of night. The dark brown is rich and intense, as if it were the base hue of the earth. Pink and pale yellow flowers bloom vividly, as if murmuring the soft grace accumulated over time; leaves and flowers intertwine with each other, outlining contours full of rhythmic charm. The overall pattern skillfully blends retro elegance with the vitality of nature, exuding remarkable refinement.

Petal Geo Verse

Centering on the "coexistence of natural charm and geometric order in autumn and winter", the natural forms of flowers and geometric elements are deconstructed and reorganized. This not only retains the vivid and dynamic nature of the flowers but also uses the neatness of geometric lines to balance the heavy atmosphere of autumn and winter

Hazy Floral Tint

The flowing texture of smudged dyeing and the natural charm of flowers coexist harmoniously. This design breaks away from the clear outlines of traditional floral patterns, and by virtue of the smudged dyeing technique, it endows the flowers with a hazy beauty characterized by "softened boundaries and blended colors", imbuing the design with a "freehand brushwork style reminiscent of ink wash paintings".
