Autumn banquet floral charm

Brown-dominant, the overall color is soft and calm, like ancient wood polished by time. Paisley patterns interweave with intricate floral ornaments, while hues of brown, gold, blue and more unfold layer upon layer, exuding a strong retro charm. It feels like a journey through time, transporting people into a fragment of memory and telling the romance that transcends time and space.

FEAST OF BROCADE FLOWERS

Crimson as luxurious velvet, unfurling a floral feast. Orange and pink blooms weave into vibrant clusters, blending retro opulence with natural vitality. Every flower and butterfly shines brightly against the deep red base, condensing the grandeur of a European court garden into a small design.

FLOWERS AND SCROLL GRASS

Based on a soft light brown base, it integrates elements such as large flowers, scroll leaves, and small floral blooms. It forms a full-coverage continuous pattern through the natural intertwining of branches and leaves. The design draws on the intricate aesthetics of classical decorative art, presenting an elegant retro visual texture with delicate lines and plant forms rich in layers.

SERENE FLOWER FOREST

With minimalist geometry as its skeleton, the work builds a strongly modern visual composition through clean lines and distinct outlines. Taking Masaoko Wakayama's signature soft color palettes as its "flesh and blood," it retains the crisp texture of modern design while infusing humanistic warmth through gentle hues—allowing viewers to feel the power of calm and healing within its simple visual symbols.

Dominant in purple, the series' floral patterns resemble a hazy velvet canopy, carrying the whispers of flowers and leaves outlined in lines. Every flower's contour and every leaf's texture are like ink strokes dancing gently in the purple night, skillfully blending nature's softness with the minimalism of line art to create a quiet, poetic mood of a floral note.
